Peripatetic Music Teachers

The details of our Peripatetic Music Teachers are listed below

Braunton Academy

Aspire & Achieve

Martin Bradshaw – Drums

James Blofeld - Drum Kit Teacher

I have been teaching Drum Kit in the North Devon area since 2005. After gaining a Grade 8 distinction through Trinity College London I received tutelage at the Drumtech Drums and Percussion School in Acton. I hold a Level 4 Certificate for Music Educators through Trinity College.

Because I work through IMS (Instrumental Music Services) it gives me access to regular social gatherings with other instrumental teachers and training sessions.

I have gigged in the UK and France, playing many different styles of music. I have performed at corporate events, weddings and festivals including the Glastonbury Festival.

Lessons are suited to all levels and abilities and I have many years experience preparing students for graded exams if this is something you would like to do.

Carol Dewis - Clarinet, Saxophone, Oboe and Bassoon

I have been a North Devon Peripatetic Woodwind teacher for 38 years teaching Clarinet, Saxophone, Oboe and Bassoon.

I believe that learning an instrument should be exciting, educational and above all fun.

Students are taught mainly on a 1-1 basis and they will have the opportunity to enter the Royal Schools of Music Exams grades 1 to 8.

For Year 10 and 11 Music Students, help and guidance is given with their performing and recording assessments.

Karen Guy – Piano

My name is Karen Guy and I teach Piano at Braunton Academy, Caen Primary School and from my home studio.

I offer Piano and Music theory lessons for all, from beginners onwards. The aim for my lessons is to teach piano whilst developing musical knowledge in a fun, progressive way.

Lessons are open to all, whether students wish to learn purely for enjoyment and develop a lifelong skill, for support with GCSE music performance and composition coursework, or to prepare for ABRSM examinations.

I have taught music around schools in North Devon for over 25 years, during which time I have run music clubs as well as other school music activities. The clubs are not a substitute for lessons but for those pupils who have individual music lessons in school as well as those pupils who take an interest in music.

I have implemented a bronze, silver and gold badge award for pupils who come to lessons on time, bring their practice list, book and demonstrate a small focus to encourage them to practice and move forward.

I have had great success with the exam boards from rock, pop, classical etc over the years. I also award my own certificates at each level for those pupils who do not want to take exams and would like to learn for recreational purposes.

I am very passionate about music and teach a wide variety of styles, rock and pop being more popular these days, and I am classically trained to grade 8.

I am a qualified teacher after studying with Plymouth University for 3 years for my teacher's qualification/ degree before I started teaching music in schools around North Devon as well as a professional musician playing in venues up and down the country for 20 years.

Mrs J Spencer-Wortley - Violin and Viola

Jenny teaches violin and viola from age 4 upwards, beginner to diploma level. Having had over twenty years of teaching experience, with students achieving grade 8, gaining places within music conservatoires and music degree courses at university, Jenny is an adaptive teacher who strives to bring out the best in each individual student. Lessons within school bring the opportunity to take ABRSM exams when the student is ready, exams are not compulsory but provide build on essential skills with a target and also achieving points which can contribute towards places in further/higher education.
